

Media concentration has already had terrible effects. ClearChannel's automation and homogenization of radio stations should be a clear signal of the dangers to TV and newspapers if they are allowed to be treated just as commodities to be monopolized rather than as public goods in which we, the public, have an inalienable interest.